Administrative History

The Central States Communication Association (CSCA) is a professional, academic organization of primary and secondary school teachers, students, college and university professors, and communication professionals. The organization was founded in 1931 as the Central States Speech Association with the goal of promoting the communication discipline in educational, scholarly, and professional endeavors. In 1989, the organization changed its name from Central States Speech Association to Central States Communication Association. To reflect the organization's official name change, the title of the organization's journal was also changed from Central States Speech Journal to Communication Studies beginning with Vol. 40, No. 1 (Spring 1989).

The association is governed by an Executive Committee and is legislated by its constitution and by-laws. The association's membership includes the states of North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio. CSCA has 22 Interest Groups, Caucuses, and Sections that promote particular communication areas. The association hosts a yearly convention within the 13 membership states, maintains a website, publishes a newsletter three times yearly, and publishes the journal Communication Studies on a quarterly basis.

Series 6: Born digital records, 1994-2000, 2011*Scope and Contents

This series contains born digital documents, videos, and other files created by Central States Communication Association between 1994 and 2011. Included among these digital records are nine oral history video interviews conducted in 2011 with members of CSCA, many of whom were presidents and executive directors of the organization. The members describe their interest in communications, their membership in CSCA, and its importance to the communications discipline.

Physical Characteristics and Technical Requirements

Digital files were originally transfered on 3.5" floppy disks formatted for Apple or IBM computers. The majority of the digial files in this series were created on an Apple Machintosh computer using file formats that are now obsolete and therefore inaccessible using a current Microsoft Windows operating system. It was not possible to recover any information from several of the floppy disks. Video files are in Quicktime Video (.MOV) format.

Processing Information

Series 6: Born digital records, 1994-2000, 2011

During processing, the digital files were transferred off of 3.5" floppy disks to a FAT32 formatted USB 2.0 flashdrive using a computer running the Mac OS X operating system. The files were then transferred to the server storage space via a computer running Windows 7.
